

The lid of the Stanlo toy box features a grey background with a large, stylized bridge arching over a river. On the left, a tall, multi-story building stands. In the river, two orange boats are visible. Below the bridge, there are several smaller buildings, including a house with a green roof and a larger, more ornate structure. The word "STANLO" is prominently displayed in the center, constructed from various colored blocks (orange, white, green, and grey).
